Designed for both contract and domestic environments, Simon Pengelly's generously proportioned hm85 armchair is characterised by the meticulous detailing of its sculptural form and skillful tailoring. Available in either low-back or high-back versions, the steel framework incorporating a sprung seat is encapsulated in a high-density CMHR foam moulding; alternative bases include chrome-plated tubular legs, or the self-centering swivel base finished in either a mid-grey epc or chromed. Complementary side tables are available in oak or walnut veneers, or in white or pale grey laminate. Seat height 380mm.

hm85 can be upholstered in supple Scandinavian hides in a range of colours, with outer panels in a complementary wool fabric
