hm30 Azumi

hm30 Azumi

This collection designed by Shin and Tomoko Azumi is suitable for both residential and contract situations. The range comprises asymmetric seat units with two and three-seat sofas that can be used alone or combined with a corner ottoman to create larger seating arrangements. A moveable armrest is also available, and low tables with etched-glass tops complete the collection.

The seating is available in a choice of fabric and leather coverings. Multi-tone upholstery is available - inside and outside panels can be upholstered in different fabrics or leathers.

Born in Japan in 1965 and 1966 respectively, Shin and Tomoko Azumi met at Kyoto City University of Art and both went on to study at London's Royal College of Art. After graduating, they formed their own design practice working for international clients in the fields of furniture, product and exhibition design.

Their collaboration with Hitch Mylius started in 2001 with the launch of hm30; in 2003 they developed the hm38 dining chair. The Azumi partnership was dissolved in 2005 and both partners now have their own design consultancies.
